Seven Wallmurals to Celebrate the Swedish Midsummer

REBEL WALLS PRELAUNCHES SEVEN DESIGNS FROM THE AUTUM COLLECTION GREENHOUSE

- We're a little impatient and would like to share with you our freshly designed creations. We were inspired by the Swedish Midsummers tradition to pick seven kinds of flowers to place under the pillow and dream about ones sweetheart to be. Therefore, we decided to prelaunch only the first seven wallmurals, the others you can only fantasize about, says Irene Gimmersta, Creative Director at Rebel Walls.

The seven wallpapers are included in Greenhouse, a wallpaper collection with a botanical theme, which will be launched in August. Nature and flowers are in focus but the styles differs completely. Among the first seven wallmurals we find graphic flowers, a hand painted flower alphabet and French flowers rescued from oblivion after lying a hundred years in a dusty archive.

ABC For The Spelling Bee - Patiently hand painted floral alphabet.

Welcome To The Jungle - Sparkling green leaves from the trendy Monstera plant.

Bellewood - A modern tolie design created with traditional craftsmanship.

Flowerbed - A flowery stripe design of real and fantasy flowers.

Winding Spring - A meeting between the traditional trellis design and winding branches.

Flower Dot - An unexpected combination between graphic shapes and lush flowers.

Wall Garden - Floral patterns rescued from oblivion after over a hundred years in a dusty archive boxes combined with worn wooden planks.
